

With Your Help, We Can Make a Difference

When a child is diagnosed with a brain or spinal cord tumor, medical treatments and their side effects can be as disruptive as the disease itself, causing emotional upheavals to the entire family. Although medical science has made significant advances, not nearly enough has been done to ease emotional pain and suffering. Making Headway was founded in response to that need. Its programs of humanistic support cover care before surgery, during the hospital stay and after the child returns home.

Making Headway has funded grants for support services and quality-of-life programs that make the child's hospital stay significantly more comfortable for both parents and patient, while enhancing the excellent care provided by the doctors, nurses and staff.

A primary focus of Making Headway's efforts is to continue the high level of support once the hospital stay has ended, as families are left to cope by themselves, trying to return to a more "normal" life. Under its Ongoing Care Program, Making Headway provides a diverse variety of free-of-charge support services for parents, patients and siblings. These include: individual counseling to help families handle social and family stress; educational consulting services to identify and address difficulties children experience on returning to school; and periodic bereavement groups.

Making Headway continues to expand its humanistic support programs. In addition, we are placing increased emphasis on basic medical research, clinical trials and training fellowships. But to give support, we need support. Your kindness and caring have made our services a reality to families in need. Your ongoing generosity will keep us growing.

Together, we can make a world of difference.
